Statement of Rick Cohen, President, National Committee for Responsive Philanthropy (NCRP)

WASHINGTON ----- The following is the statement of National Committee for Responsive Philanthropy (NCRP) President Rick Cohen.

One year ago, the world was shaken by acts of terror that we will never forget and from which our hearts are still recovering.

The emotions of this anniversary make it a very difficult time for analytical reflection, when such thought is most needed.

Over the course of the last year, NCRP has sought to offer a balanced analysis of the events and the challenges they pose for philanthropy and society.
